We had dinner in the restaurant. I had a churrasco steak and my wife had a spaghetti dish with shrimp. Both meals were flavorful and cooked properly. No other guests in the restaurant, but we were early and the hotel didn't seem very busy the week we were there. Pleasant food. read more. What Joe Reynolds doesn't like about Sitar Indian Restaurant:

This is the worst experience I have ever had. I really wish I could get my money back. It was very loud, disorganized and terrible overall. The waiters didn't know which tables belonged to them. The people there were incredibly loud, enough to visibly disturb everyone else, and nobody did anything about it. The food was badly seasoned and cooked. The portions were tiny. Never come here, never. It is a terrible hotel... read more. At Sitar Indian Restaurant in London, tasty, juicy, delicious meat is freshly prepared on an open flame and served with delicious sides, the menu also includes fine vegetarian meals. Guests also know to appreciate the utilization of traditional Indian spices, The sugar-sweet desserts of the restaurant also shine not only in the eyes of our little guests.
