Of course, I am always grateful for a gluten-free option! happier coeliac if I find a nice place for fish and chips. the personal was beautiful, very friendly and courteous. I had gluten-free fish and chips (see photo,) it was a bit on the pale side and did not taste as if it had been deboned, but as I say I am still grateful for an option. I honestly think it was a bit more expensive than I would normally spend (ab... read more. What User doesn't like about Cross Gates Fish And Chips:

What we got was lovely, however the 'regular' haddock and chips had fish no bigger than a fish finger with just a garnishing of chips. You get more food in a £1 ready meal! No wonder there's a skeleton in the window! The woman serving was as rough as Bet Lynch! Will not be returning. read more.
