The place from London offers 26 different dishes and drinks on the card at an average price of £57. What Hannah Harris likes about The Betterment at The Biltmore Mayfair:

This is the best restaurant in London, a new found land for epicurean! Highest quality of food with sophisticated taste, presentation and services! The General Manager Arthur Ho is a magician with knows how to create best experiences to guests! Amazing! read more. In nice weather you can even have something in the outdoor area,

And into the accessible rooms also come customers with wheelchairs or physiological limitations. What OpenTable Diner doesn't like about The Betterment at The Biltmore Mayfair:

We were there for afternoon tea. We had reservations but the staff were shuffling us around between dining room and lounge. We clearly said we were there for afternoon tea but the communication between the staff members were not clear to each other. The value of food and service did not equal the cost. We paid £132 total for 2 and the sandwiches, scones and dessert were smaller than any other places. The Biltmore hot... read more.

A journey through Great Britain without getting on a plane is effortlessly possible when it comes to culinary delights: The Betterment at The Biltmore Mayfair in London traditionally shines for instance with Fish and Chips, mashed potatoes or roast with Yorkshire Pudding and for dessert a fine Trifle, You can take a break at the bar with a freshly tapped beer or other alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks. Not to be overlooked is also the comprehensive selection of coffee and tea specialties in this locale.
