The restaurant was not as cozy as one would expect for the photos. They treated us kindly. We asked for soups and an era so spicy that tears jumped (they realized it was spicy, but it was not possible to eat) and both were too oily. We also ask for some giozas that were also bathed in oil and chili, although these were if they were allowed to eat. That's right, a lot of money, and we ate 16 pounds. read more. Mr Meng from London is a good place for a bar to a drink after work and be able to sit with friends or alone, on the menu there are also a lot of Asian meals. The Asian fusion cuisine is also an important part of Mr Meng. Anyone who finds the everyday and generally known menus too ordinary should approach with a willingness to experiment and try some exciting combination of ingredients consume, Many guests are particularly looking forward to the versatile, tasty Chinese cuisine.
