We were going to Greenway crossing the river Dart by means of the small ferry from Dittisham rather than via Dartmouth and saw this lovely caferestaurant. So we booked lunch for our way back. So pleased that we did. It is a fantastic location on the river's edge in a small village. Two of us had the crab tart and two tge fish and chips. Both meaks were great. This was followed by a lovely plumb crumble with ice cream... read more. In nice weather you can even be served in the outdoor area. What User doesn't like about Anchor Stone Cafe:

It was very expensive, and the fish was not up to standard. We had to wait for service. The quiche claimed to be homemade but looked very tired and just like one from Brake Bros. read more.
