Lovely atmosphere, friendly, helpful staff in a great position near the canal. It has a small menu but certainly enough choice and the food was plentiful and very tasty. No children's menu but happy to adapt a toasty for grandson, Mum had the special Highland vegetable soup which she really enjoyed and me the nachos-perfect. I will definitely return when next up. If the weather conditions are right, you can also eat outside. What User doesn't like about Kitsch Coffee Wine:

I keep trying to give this cafe a second chance but every visit is marred by the awful music, loud and trashy which is totally intrusive. To make matters worse, I found out yesterday that the staff claim to have no say either in the volume or the playlist (both of which are set) that in itself strikes me as Orwellian. So never again!
