Walking around London, I stumbled upon a beautiful pub offering a great chopp and well-seasoned curry dish at a fair price with professional service. Further enhancing the experience was the kind and efficient staff, particularly Jess. Despite some inconsistencies in temperature, the traditional breakfast was tasty. Despite general disappointment with other London eateries, this spot excelled in both food and service. Adhering to COVID-19 protocols, the establishment provided a safe and clean environment. With friendly staff, spotless facilities, and a great selection of beers, this Wetherspoon location stands out as offering the best food in London, particularly the gammon. A traditional English pub with delicious food and excellent service, this spot is sure to impress with fresh dishes and friendly staff, making it a must-visit in the city.
