Was with two friends, all our meals were perfect and the staff were lovely. It was our yearly reunion. We are all scattered across the UK and it was central for us all but if we lived closer, we would go again. Only setback was the roudy lot in Charters below the restaurant. read more. In beautiful weather you can even have something in the outdoor area. What Julie B doesn't like about East:

I took a friend for lunch and we ordered half a duck and pancakes (special treat for her as it is her favourite). £23.50 for a small half duck which was dry and overcooked. We were the only ones at lunchtime in the restaurant, so no excuses for being busy. I frequently come to East and have to say I was so disappointed. Also the duck was not the only dish ordered; noodles (very bland) and prawns (lovely and tasty) an... read more. The large diversity of coffee and tea specialties makes a visit to East even more worthwhile, on the menu there are also a lot of Asian menus. It goes without saying that a suitable drink completes a meal; therefore this gastropub provides a generous variety of scrumptious and regional alcoholic options, be it beer or wine, With the popular spices and fish sauces, Thai menus are prepared here.
