We were staying at the Raasay Distillery and enjoyed our dinner at Raasay House Hotel. The welcome was good, service fast, friendly, informed and efficient. We had starters of Haggis Bon Bon and Sweetcorn Fritter. Then Sirloin Steak with chips and a nice sauce. Very good and very satisfied. The distillery should supply their residents with torches since in hours of darkness there is not a lot of light! read more. What Peter Harrison doesn't like about Raasay House:

we stayed in the distillery and was told that this was the only place to serve evening meal, so quickly booked us. I ordered the clam and mustel linguines who arrived in a shockless manner. I wasn't aware when it arrived, but when I asked that I said he was reviewing, and they had no. not a problem, but it would have been nice to become aware of it. my partner ordered the venison, which was very neigent and tasty, bu...
