We had a lovely evening at the Rock. It is a family run business; everyone gets a very warm welcome and the service is refreshingly good (most places are terrible these days, especially the national chains). Pub locals mix agreeably with diners creating a friendly atmosphere. The restaurant ambience was lovely and it felt 'cosy'. The menu is sensibly priced and supplemented by a specials board which offers plenty of... read more. The restaurant also offers the possibility to sit outside and eat in pleasant weather. What junioevans doesn't like about The Rock Inn:

Called in Sunday for a roast dinner to be disappointed with a cold plate arriving with cold potatoes veg with what seemed like shop bought tiny Yorkshire puddings. The only thing hot was the roast gravy. We were the first to be served and we complained about the meal. They were taken away heated up, not the best meal. We finished what we could of the meal but it was not filling it was just adequate. Have eaten Sunday... read more. A roundtrip through Great Britain without getting on a plane is easily possible when it comes to culinary delights: The Rock Inn in Blackburn with Darwen traditionally shines for instance with Fish and Chips, mashed potatoes or roast with Yorkshire Pudding and as dessert a fine Trifle. At the bar, you can relax with a cool beer or other alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks. If you'd like something after-dinner treat for dessert, The Rock Inn does not disappoint with its extensive selection of desserts, Besides the tasty sandwiches, healthy salads and other snacks also make a good snack.
