I eat all over the world without leaving London, and this week I had Nepalese eating in Monty's in Fulham. Apparently there are three of them scattered around London, one in Ealing being the original. There is another one in Kingston and then the one I visited on the Fulham Road. The filiale Fulham is located at the far end of the Fulham Road, from some pubs and Italian restaurants, with an inconspicuous signage at i... read more. The restaurant also offers the possibility to sit outside and be served in pleasant weather. What User doesn't like about Monty's Nepalese:

absolutely disgusting. They just sent the wrong court and when we asked for the right court, they asked us to pay before us so that we wait another 30 minutes while everything else is cold and they want the wrong court back! They can have it! read more. In the kitchen of Monty's Nepalese in Hammersmith and Fulham, original Asian spices scrumptious traditional meals are prepared. Besides, the inventive blend of different dishes with new and partially adventurous ingredients is appreciated by the visitors - a good case of Asian Fusion. Customers also appreciate the utilization of original Indian spices, and you can expect typical Italian cuisine with classics like pizza and pasta.
