What User likes about The Plantation Tearoom:

We booked on for an afternoon tea and were not disappointed! Sandwiches were fresh, well filled and with a variety of delicious fillings. They also served home made quiche and sausage rolls with a tomato chutney. The scones are the best I've had served with plenty of clotted cream and jam, all washed down with earl grey tea. I've had lots of afternoon teas within the area, sometimes at very posh venues but Bells afte... read more. What User doesn't like about The Plantation Tearoom:

I do not understand the popularity of this place. The quality of products used is so poor. I vow not to eat here every time I go . But we meet with friends because it is convenient. Bacon roll this morning was so awful: undercooked bacon and roll saturated with very unpleasant margarine. I should have sent it back. Friends cheese scone wasn't cooked as was equally unpleasant. Oh dear! read more.
