Nestled near the picturesque Belleek Pottery, The Lemon Tree Coffee House presents a charming yet contrasting experience. While many delights await, such as tasty club sandwiches and exquisite homemade cakes, the café's ambiance suffers from neglect, with peeling paint and a need for overall renovation. Friendly staff and a commitment to cleanliness, especially during COVID restrictions, are commendable; however, inconsistent food quality and inadequate restroom facilities detract from the visit. Ultimately, patrons are torn between appreciating the quality of dishes and feeling let down by the café's upkeep and service issues.
