we came here as a family to try something new. it was a brave choice with 2 fussy teenagers, but we gave him a jump and it turned into a roaring success. Maybe it was the 20,000 steps we had walked into london before. only the fantastic smells from the restaurant, but we all ate as if we were hungry. the children were adventurous and loved the hacker sticks. they did very well with their main course and the numerous... we were there after work for a quick dinner. the staff was best on average, uninterested in ordering or helping with everything. just because we asked for a few forks, it seemed to be annoying. eating in wagamama is known for beautiful looking...and appetit sign, but what we got on this day was missing from a real taste and it was not fun. I'm really disappointed with them. read more. If you want to spoil your palate with a bit of culinary flair, this is
