if they want to experience a complete cross-section of the London population, they go to the channels. There, along the narrow paths that cross the city, like the feet of the crow on the face of a tired old man, they will see the demographic capital in all its read more. When the weather conditions are good you can also eat and drink outside, and into the accessible spaces also come guests with wheelchairs or physical limitations. What User doesn't like about Towpath Cafe:

at the arrival I was unsurprised to see the amount of "cool" punters that looked like artists – probably residents or workers in a nearby art gallery. I was also not surprised to see that the bank was full to the brim on what seemed like read more.
