Staff are very friendly. Food was nice and they had a carvery available if we wanted to broaden our palates. We had coffee and were trying to be good not eating cakes with the coffee which is really hard : so the waitress was very...kind and gave us biscuits as a token instead. Have eaten dinner here before and will gladly come back.

Cleanliness is impeccable here too. Plenty of parking space and not far from read more. What User doesn't like about Walls Of Kilgowan:

Staff were very friendly when my family and I were there but when we arrived just after it felt like the food was finishing up and selection wasn't great. I ordered roast beef without gravy and when it arrived at the table I pointed...this put to the waitress who apologised and said she would change it. To my shock and disappointment they had rinsed it under the tap to wash the gravy off and put it back on the plate!... read more. During meals, a refreshing drink is essential.
