Went for a snack after nice walk on the Humberston Fitties. It was late in the afternoon so only cakes and drinks available which was exactly what we wanted. Had tea for which came in a huge pot, and a single fruit scone which was certainly big enough for I've had a lot of scones in my time but honestly this was one of the best. Seemed to be a friendly community cafe which also included the local library. Will visit... read more. What User doesn't like about The Gingerbread House:

I don't know where to start, the tables were all dirty but there wasn't any other customers in. After cleaning the table myself with my toddlers baby wipes I ordered a coffee and a slice of cake, I got my coffee and sat down and...waited for my cake to go with it, by the time my cake came my coffee was cold! I don't know why it took so long as there was only me and my toddler in there. The cake was horrible, very den... read more.
