A little off the centre of Stratford with Halls Croft not one of the main Shakespeare sights so we found it easy to get a lunchtime table. Nice range of baguettes and sandwiches, and cakes plus soup and some light meals. The sausage baguette with red cabbage and apple chutney was very good and different to the usual sandwich shop offering. Product provenance local including beef from Shakespeare estate long horn catt... read more. When the weather conditions is nice you can also eat outside, And into the accessible spaces also come clientele with wheelchairs or physiological disabilities. What Stephen J doesn't like about Hall's Croft Cafe:

Located near the church housing the grave of Shakespeare. Worth a visit as a pleasant enough environment for coffee and cake or a light meal if visiting the sites in this area. Staff were friendly and welcoming. Unfortunately for me the visit was spoiled half way through eating a fruit scone to find that it had not been cooked properly and the centre was raw dough! Yuk.
