What User likes about Pizzariach: This is really a takeaway place, and I can not imagine sitting down to eat here. The pizza menu is quite basic and certainly not imaginative. It is heavily focused on meat. Asking for a Supreme or one with the lot was met with blank incredulous expression. You can design a pizza, but that seems like a rare event, and nobody seems to have noted those unusual combinations that are actually be quite normal and even succ... read more. The restaurant and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus usable with a wheelchair or physiological limitations. What User doesn't like about Pizzariach: Mediocre, overpriced pizza. Also chucked us out whilst breastfeeding because it's take away only despite the 12 inch lettering on the window that reads SIT IN and the Google listing describing it as a dine-in restaurant. Nice one. Enjoyed our meal sitting in our little car trying to feed and change a newborn. No warning of this when ordering. read more.
