I ordered the house chow mein, lemon chicken and some chips. We asked for no onions or peppers in the chow mein. For what we paid, we had decent portion size and they did as we asked and left the onions and peppers out. What stood out the most and is the reason we would definitely eat here again is the quality of the food was simply done and yet tasted really fresh. Not oily or greasy like some takeaways. That was a... read more. What Tracy doesn't like about Jade Palace:

The food is always good here so I ordered one to be delivered to my daughters flat in Fareham last night. The sweet n sour balls and prawn toast was well overcooked. So much so that they should have been thrown out and the chef start again. The rest of the meal was as good as it always is but as I paid over £30 for the two of us, I felt disappointed. I don't think my daughter would order from here again but will stic... read more.
