The Greek Table has become a subject of varied experiences among patrons. While some guests appreciated the friendly service, particularly thanking a new waitress for her efforts, others encountered issues such as warm wine and inconsistent food quality. Notably, dishes like lamb and chicken failed to impress, often falling flat in taste and presentation. Despite these concerns, the establishment is praised for its warm atmosphere, character, and potential under new management. With a commitment to hospitality and ongoing updates, The Greek Table shows promise, though it clearly needs refinement in both food and service to truly shine.
