What Michel v likes about Amaranto Lounge At The Four Seasons:

We ended up in the Amaranto Lounge at the Four Seasons for a High Tea just before catching our plane home on a Sunday after a long weekend in London. The Four Seasons is always a very good choice but this High Tea really blew us of our feed. They teamed up with the Chelsea Garden in London; using all kind of herbs and honey from that garden. We loved the dedication of the staff. The sandwiches and scones were amazing.... read more.

The restaurant is accessible and can therefore also be used with a wheelchair or physical disabilities, Depending on the weather, you can also sit outside and eat. WLAN is available for free. What Joseph Collins doesn't like about Amaranto Lounge At The Four Seasons:

While I enjoy my fair share of sugar-laden food (I could never turn down a WA café cake, for example), I'm definitely more of a savoury girl. Because of that, I don't find myself craving the afternoon tea experience all that often for someone who doesn't prioritise cakes in their diet, how special can a meal of a few sandwiches and desserts be?
