While the service was initially good, issues arose with the food temperature and quality. One reviewer was unhappy with the limited vegan options but did enjoy the tasty main dish. A cozy atmosphere with a fireplace was noted, though more lounge-style seating in the bar was suggested. Despite these criticisms, other reviewers praised the quality of the food and service, recommending dishes such as the bass and pistachio soufflé. Accessibility for wheelchairs was also highlighted. The staff were commended for their excellent recommendations and service, making for an enjoyable dining experience.

Overall, the restaurant seems to have its strengths but could benefit from improvements in various areas to regain its high standards.
